My Experience

One of my priorities while buying storage containers is that they should be airtight. That's crucial because you don't want your food to get spoiled. All these dry storers are airtight which means that no moisture or bacteria will reach my food and spoil it. Also, with time, I have realised the importance of using the right material for food storage. One thing that I loved the most about using these storers is that all of them have been prepared using selected material which is completely safe.

These storers are designed in a way that it is easier for me to stack up food easily. The super storer is just perfect to store big packs of dry fruits like walnuts as they are usually at a higher risk of getting moist.

I use the dry snack storers for everyday munchies. I like that they have a glass-like look so it is easier to check the contents of it.

The OTT Gatsby snacks storers look so good. If you are bored seeing those regular plastic containers in your kitchen, you can invest in these modern-looking boxes.

While I have been using one of these storers for snacks, the other one has become more like a jewellery storer for me. So, these boxes are multipurpose and can make a good gifting option too.

Overall, I am enjoying using these dry storage boxes. They are versatile, stackable, and completely safe.
